Hot bi-polar Radio Frequency probe activates collagen regeneration, reduces wrinkles and lifts the skin, using an output of 500KHz of electromagnetic RF energy.

The wavelength of the infrared light is 880 nm - it activates the cells, promotes blood circulation and metabolism, and keeps skin healthy and elastic.

What is RF?

Radio Frequency (RF) Facial Treatments are considered among the most effective non-surgical procedures available today.

RF works through radio wave currents that penetrates deep into the dermis (deepest layer of the skin) and subcutaneous layers of the skin, causing tightening of the underlying tissues, showing a difference with fine lines, wrinkles, and skin texture. This heat stimulates collagen production.

The overall result is tighter, brighter skin and a significant reduction of sagging skin and wrinkles.

This technology is also called Thermage.

Safe - Non-surgical, non-intrusive, painless, with no down time
Fast - Instantly tightens and lifts loose skin and reduces wrinkles
Cumulative - Stimulates the re-generation of collagen continuously
